Home Repair and/or Shed Building with Ed Hanson

Join us for one or both classes!

DIY Home Repair - You Can Do It!

Saturday, March 20

10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

COCE, Artworks Upstairs (Collegiate Center)

$40

Attention homeowners and renters - doesn't there always seem to be a routine repair or project you'd like to conduct but don't know where or how to start? Come spend the afternoon learning how to make some basic repairs around the house: whether it's fixing that leaky faucet; patching a hole in the wall; or how to properly replace a broken window. Hands-on instruction offered in plumbing, wall repair, and window glazing. Other topics for discussion include using the right tools to get the job done, leaky pipes, and other things you may encounter and be able to fix without calling a repairman. Spring is coming. Don't put those projects off, learn how to do them and do them right!

Shed Building for Beginners

Saturday, May 15

9:30 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Carnahan Building, Room 120

$75

Wouldn't it be great to have some extra storage space on your property and the know-how to build it? Come learn construction basics, take part in the design and planning process, then put your knowledge to use to build a functional utility shed. At the end of the class we'll conduct a drawing for one lucky apprentice to take home the finished project! This class is for beginners or those with minimal builder's experience. Please bring a hammer, tape measure, safety goggles, and work gloves. Dress appropriately as the hands-on activity will be outside.

To register, please call 338-1005 or stop in at
